JOE'S CORNER...

"Because we can"

In 2016, The Local Credit Union started celebrating Labor Week, which takes place the week after Labor Day. We did this, because we can. As a small credit union, we often make impactful decisions based solely on our membership. This decision was made because solidarity runs deep within our membership base. That same year we started an event called, The Battle of The Locals. This successful competition was organized, because we can. As a credit union, we understand the competitive nature of union locals. Our membership consists of more than 45 union locals from a diverse background and all of them took the opportunity to show why they are the best. (Pictures from The Battle of The Locals on back). The event was a success and the ten union locals represented competed hard to win on that warm September evening. There is not a financial institution in the country that would do this for their membership. We did this, because we can. Congratulations Bricklayers and Allied Craft Workers Local 2 on your first-place finish.
